POSITION SUMMARY:

Residential and Community Advisors (RCAs) for Summer in Farmington work closely with the Summer Program's Leadership Team to oversee the residential life program.

Leading up to Summer in Farmington, they will work collaboratively with the Director of Summer Programs to review and establish the rules and norms for residential life. As a team, RCAs will work to establish routines and practices within the dorms, as well as a set of expectations for campers and counselors. They will undergo extensive training on residential life protocols and practices, in collaboration with our Summer in Farmington Supervisor and Director of First Aid, to support their work during the summer.

During camp, the Residential and Community Advisors' primary responsibility is to foster a safe, inclusive community for campers within their affiliated dorm: this includes, but is not limited to, organizing nightly activities, supporting camper life in the dormitories, and facilitating conflict resolution as needed. The RCAs will partner with the Summer in Farmington Supervisor and Assistant Supervisor to plan and execute activities in the dorm that foster camp culture; they will also work together to navigate conflict that arises between counselors and campers. The RCAs will also oversee the Counselors assigned to their dormitory and are responsible for supporting and empowering Counselors in their role in the dorm. RCAs will supervise and collaborate with counselors, managing their assignments and serving as a liaison to support them as they navigate campers' social-emotional needs and challenges. RCAs will hold brief meetings with the counselors in their dorms, daily, following lights out to debrief and offer support.
